RE: Games and practices on Remembrance Day

As Remembrance Day approaches, Hockey Nova Scotia would like to reflect on the sacrifices made by our military veterans.

From one end of our province to the other, connections to Nova Scotia's long and proud military history can be felt. We know that many members of our military community are also members of our hockey family.

On this day, we honour those who have defended our country in past conflicts, as well as those who continue to serve.

Hockey Nova Scotia understands that the hockey calendars of our members are busy ones, and that full days of games and practices are scheduled this weekend (including between 11 a.m. and 12 p.m. on Sunday) at rinks across our province.

However, on November 11, we would encourage all our Minor and Female Hockey Associations to pause for a few moments at 11 a.m. to honour all of the veterans who have courageously served our country.

Regards,

Brad MacKinley
